

Automatic Arm Awnings

(Traditional Style Window Blinds)

by Coolabah Shades

Automatic Arm Awnings are a simple and economical solution to protect your windows from the harsh Australian sun and reduce the heat inside your home.

Found on countless Australian homes since the 1960's, Automatic arm awnings are a tried and tested economical solution to your Sun problems

Originally made in a heavy Polycotton Canvas with stripes, Nowadays the blinds are also available in Plain Canvas colours and also in Shade Mesh with either a 94% or 99% UV blockout and with a wide variety of colours available. Shade mesh offers the best shade while still allowing a view of the outside and maintaining privacy from looking in

The blinds are easily operated using a pull-stick and can be left at various positions on the side guide rails. Different arm sizes are available to allow for more air circulation between the fabric and the glass if required and also to allow awning style windows to open still while the blind is down.

Guide rails & arms

The Guide rails and arms are Zinc coated as standard with Stainless Steel parts available as an option, ideal when installed in close proximity to coastal beach areas

Colorbond hoods

The Hood pelmet covers are available in a wide selection of Colorbond colours to match most traditional and modern colour schemes. The hoods can also be custom powder coated if required.

Operation

The simplicity of the arm operation has been one of the main reason the Automatic arm awning has been popular for so many decades.

The automatic locking mechanism on the arm allows the arm to lock onto the guide rail at any point maintaining the arm at the desired height.

When the blind is to be raised, the bend at the top of the guide rail allows for the arm to neatly fold up against the wall and the fabric to stow away under the protective pelmet hood.
